

Contemporary Herpetology

Consent to Publish Form

The undersigned author(s) has submitted a manuscript to Contemporary Herpetology (CH) entitled

By signing below, the author(s)

- 1) agree(s) to allow CH to publish the above-named article (the work) in perpetuity in exactly the form that it was initially served after acceptance by the Editor(s).
- 2) guarantee(s) that the material furnished has not been previously published elsewhere and that he/she has the right to publish the material, or if it has been previously published in whole or in part, that permission has been obtained by the author for publication by CH. The author will submit such permission with the signed copy of this document.
- 3) agree(s) to the nature of this publication process, which involves making the work available electronically over the internet worldwide without restriction, and on any servers deemed by the Editor(s) to constitute official CH servers.
- 4) agree(s) not to publish the work elsewhere in exactly the same form that it was initially served.
- 5) agree(s) to give proper credit to CH in any subsequent publications of the information included in the work and agrees not to authorize direct reprinting of the work without the permission of CH.

Under this agreement, the author(s) retains the following rights:

- 1) the intellectual copyrights to all material contained within the article;
- 2) the right to create external World Wide Web links leading directly to the article.

Author's signature and date

Author's name

Author's Institution